6. Prof. Muralakrishna and Prof. Srinivas clarified that the learning objectives and learning outcomes can be same but the department needs to design their own unique textbook to accomplish the NAAC guidelines. They also suggested that we need to bring in more innovative methods and practices. They suggested that a timeline has to be in place to bring out the new General English text book.
7. Prof. Sunita Mishra citing the example of two students, who were admitted to their TIG programme from Nizam College, felt that the students need to be trained more in the basic language skills, helping them navigate various subjects. She advised to use skill based materials to help the learners to enhance their language skills, particularly Reading and Writing skills. She also suggested us to take inputs from the people who are into teaching immediately after they finish their degree.
8. Dr. C. Sharada sought clarification on the objections raised by the administration for not taking up the new General English textbook and she recommended that we resume the project and implement it.
9. The student representatives suggested that we add more emphasis on the practical usage of English, such as composing an email.
10. Prof. Srinivas and Prof. Sunita Mishra suggested that multiple text books can be used for the unique needs of different categories of students.
11. Dr. Melissa Helen presented the vote of thanks with the assurance to the members present that a new General English text book would be designed.
12. The discussion regarding the pre-approval of common core syllabus (for both GE and ML) concluded with the acceptance of the external members.

1. B.A/B.Sc/B.Com General English Course (GE-spanning III and IV semesters)
2. BA English Literature/Modern Language (ENGLISH) Course (EL/ML-spanning III and IV semesters)

Minutes of the Meeting

1. Dr. J. Madhavi welcomed the members present and briefed on the agenda for the meeting; gave a power point presentation on the contents of the common core syllabus (General English and Modern Language-English).
2. Prof. Y. L. Srinivas congratulated Dr.Madhavi on her recent administrative post of I/C Head, Department of English, Nizam College, OU. He has strongly recommended that we design our own syllabus suitable to our unique needs of the students. He laid emphasis on using our autonomy in the material production because stating this would be a scoring point in College's NAAC Accreditation.
3. Dr. J. Madhavi presented the fact that most of the work was done on the new General English textbook designed, yet had to be dropped due to few suggestions and recommendations from the administration.
4. Prof. C. Muralikrishna emphatically seconded the suggestion given by Prof. Y. L. Srinivas that Department of English at Nizam College should utilise the autonomy to design their own material. Ensured us of their help in bringing out new textbook and advised to think of new procedures towards methodology of teaching. He also suggested designing syllabus where the language lab could be used.
5. Dr. Melissa Helen clarifying the point raised, explained in detail the reasons why the new General English textbook could not be completed. Since every other department was opting for the common core syllabus, Department of English was forced to follow other departments.
